

Contents

Preface	5
1. Introduction	7
A. General observations	7
The European Convention on Human Rights as a treaty with particular characteristics	7
The Strasbourg enforcement machinery	9
B. Rights and duties of states towards the admission and expulsion of aliens under international law	11
C. Non-discrimination	12
2. The scope of the rights and freedoms of aliens under the ECHR	17
A. General observations	17
B. Alienage and specific provisions of the ECHR	17
Restrictions on the political activity of aliens	17
States' power to detain aliens.....	18
Freedom of movement of aliens lawfully within the territory	22
Prohibition of collective expulsion of aliens	22
Procedural safeguards relating to the expulsion of aliens	23
Protection of property	24
C. Alienage and the Strasbourg case law	26
Absolute rights	27
Expulsion of aliens under Articles 2 and 3	28
Basic means of subsistence under Articles 2 and 3	34
Refusal of entry of a discriminatory character under Article 3	34
Non-respect of a procedural requirement	35

The position of aliens in relation to the ECHR

Right to an effective remedy	36
Qualified rights	38
Private and family life under Article 8	39
Freedom of thought, conscience and religion, freedom of expression and freedom of assembly and association under Articles 9 to 11	44
The right to marry under Article 12	45
The right to education	45
The right to leave a country under Article 2 (2) of Protocol No. 4	47
Limited rights.....	47
Right to a fair trial	47
Conclusion	51
Notes	53